

COMM 1311: Written Communication, Section _____

Submitted to Dr. Joel Richmond

By Mansour Al Sadoun (202100503)

Assignment 1: Classification Essay

Date: 2026/06/30

Online class and classroom classes

Today, students can learn in many ways. Some students like online classes and some students like classroom classes. There is also a mixed way that use both of them. Every type is different and have good things and bad things. Online classes, classroom classes, and mixed classes are three kinds of learning that students can choose from.

The first type is online classes. Online classes are when students study from home with a computer or phone. This type is good because students can stay at home and save time. They do not need to drive to university . Also, they can watch some lessons again if the teacher record it. But online classes can be hard too. Some students feel sleep or play games in the class. Internet problems can also make learning difficult sometimes.

The second type is classroom classes. Classroom classes happen in the school or university. Students sit with the teacher and students in one room. This is good because students can ask questions fast and talk to the friend. The teacher can also help student better when they are in the class. But classroom classes also have some bad thing. Student need to wake up early and take time going to the university. Sometimes the class is far and this make student tired.

The third type is mixed classes. Mixed classes use online learning and classroom learning together. Students can go to class on some days and study online on other days. This type give students more choices and more freedom. They can enjoy meeting friends and also enjoy staying at home. Many students think this way is very good because it has the good things from both kinds of learning.

In conclusion, there are three kinds of learning which are online classes, classroom classes, and mixed classes. Every type is different and useful in its own way. Some students like online classes, some like classroom classes, and some like mixed classes. I think all of them are good, but students should choose the one that make them happy and help them learn better.